2017 Business Report

Dear Shareholders,

The global economy was slowly recovered in 2017. However, there are still challenges in politics and economics. Overall, regional politics are unstable and protectionism is rising, which leads to concerns among a mild growth in global economics. Despite the volatility, seasonality, and uncertainty in the industry, Catcher Technology still managed to record a strong growth in 2017. 2017 Revenue recorded another historical record high at NT$93.3bn, up 17.9% yoy from NT$79.1bn in 2016, which was also above industry average.

In 2017, Catcher integrated more components, which not only strengthened our position in the supply chain, but also reinforced the relationship with customers. Catcher also expanded the scope of component integration, and brought in new growth drivers. As for production capability, Catcher continues to strengthen its leading position in the material, forming, machining, and surface treatment. In terms of capacity, Catcher continues to spend large amount of CAPEX to meet client's demand, and lengthen the distance with late comers. With better automation and execution capabilities, Catcher continues to perform above-industry financial results.

Catcher, as the leading global brand in the structure component, has the most complete process matrix capability, client bases, and production line. In the long term, Catcher still sees the growth trend in the industry, and will continue to utilize its diversified material, process, innovation, production techniques, vertical integration, leading automation, the best cost structure, and high sales scale, to raise the entry barriers of the structure component industry, and reinforce the leading position in the market.

Looking forward to 2018, Catcher will commence another growth driver based on the current solid operation. We see three main growth drivers ahead: the increasing revenue contribution from existing projects, the introduction of new products from existing customers, and the introduction of new customers and products. Catcher also works on new applications and new customers. We are optimistic for the outlook and expect to see meaningful growth in 2018.

Industry Development and Outlook

In this competitive smart device industry, innovation, quality, and value are still the focuses of brand customers. In smartphone, notebook, and tablet PC, companies with mid-high end products still enjoy higher earnings than peers. Hence, brand customers are adding mid-high end products' portion, at the same time increasing shipment. With this trend, we see rising adoption rate of high-end metal and composite material. Clients continue to enhance level of complexity, and develop new surface treatment technologies with casing suppliers, which contribute to the high customization, high complexity, high degree of difficulties of casing production. Catcher continues to fully utilize various materials, different process, the best execution, and mass production capabilities, to deliver the best result for clients.

Although there are numerous number of material and process on the market, only metal can provide this best-in-class quality, structure, intensity, and complete protection for the casing. In the high-end structure component, metal structure components possess the most complete supply chain, and best cost structure for mass production. Metal plus unibody process can provide high quality, lightness, thinness, and firmness, which cannot be replaced by other material or process. Besides, metal is a green material, which can be fully recycled for the best benefit of the globe. The large capacity requirement, along with the features mentioned above, we see a more predictable trend for material, process, and design in casing sector. For the mid-high end products, metal is still the best solution. Either aluminum, or stainless steel; the whole casing or frame design, belongs to the definition of “unibody”, and is the main product and competitive advantage of Catcher.

In 2017, many global smartphone brands released smartphones with the design of frame plus glass cover. This design didn't diminish the importance of metal, but actually enhance it, due to the higher complexity, thinner design, and higher strength. This corresponded to Catcher's view- more predictable in material and process. At the same time, Catcher further enhanced the value-add in the supply chain and delivered a 20% growth in 2017's revenue.

Financial performance

The consolidated revenue of the Catcher Group in 2017 was NT$93.3billion. The consolidated gross profit margin of the group was 45%. The consolidated net profit after tax was NT$21.8 billion, and the basic earnings per share was NT$28.35.

Research and Development

In order to maintain the company's leading position, we keep applying various composite materials, and developing more advanced technologies. By calling on its rich experience in basic material science and physical/chemical surface treatments, Catcher adopts different materials and different processes in combination with a variety of secondary processing and surface treatments in a multilayer, multi-directional approach to make products and an in-house technology with high precision, high value-added, and high mass production capacity.

The current directions in research and development include special magnesium alloys, aluminum alloys, stainless steel, carbon (glass) fiber, plastic casing, glass and other metal applied on products' casing and structural design. Catcher offers customers with one-stop shopping solutions based on the complete and strong technology matrix. In addition, the company also adopts laser engraving of components, along with seamless welding, metal /plastic injection mold techniques, etching and multi-color surface treatment techniques, and high precision extrusion techniques for large metal casing in smartphones, notebooks and tablets to achieve the high quality. Besides, the company also invests a lot of effort in extending into other niche products. The latest research and development of Catcher are multi-color combo electric chemical method on aluminum and stainless steel; thermal plastic composites; color enhanced phonology on metal casing etc.

Business strategies

Catcher will also continue its investment in production automation, which has already contributed significantly to the production management. Therefore, it is the key to enhance the production stability, productivity, and expand the capacity further. We will aim to actively achieve human resource optimization and accumulate resources for progress. To boost the company's growth, we will continue our development of core products and technologies, expansion of new customers, and diversification of applications.

Catcher continues to expand its factories in Taiwan, Suqian, and Taizhou in 2018. The diversification and allocation of our facilities is also on going. We expect to achieve optimal allocation among three sites. Therefore, the risk of sole factory site and the impact from volatile market and operating environmental can be reduced.

Besides achieving business goals, Catcher also put efforts in Corporate Social Responsibility. Catcher formed a team focusing on corporate social responsibility, published corporate social responsibility report, invest in green energy, promote the investigation on greenhouse-gas, set goal of energy saving and carbon reduction, attended charitable activities, earned Sports Enterprise Certification, and enhanced the communication with stakeholders

Important sales policies

In terms of the outlook of the metal casing business: smartphones will grow significantly to replace the feature phones and will further penetrate into more markets and customers. We also see higher adoption rate of mid-high end smartphones, and expect smartphones to continue to be the largest growth driver in the next few years. We also see notebook brands lean toward the slim design and the adoption of tablets also indicates the trend of thin and light. Wearable devices also adopt metal casing design, and could be one of the growth drivers in the future. Overall, looking at the design trend of each consumer electronic device mentioned above, metal will be the best solution.

The commitment of the main customers in choosing the materials is getting higher. Catcher will also fully utilize its competitive advantages to continuously increase capacity at a steady pace to meet customers' demands and to gradually implement fastest manufacturing/sales support for the customers. In order to achieve instant customer services, sales, manufacturing, and R&D will be closer to the customers with the aim to progress at the same pace as the customers.

Effects of external competition, legislative environment, and macro environment

In terms of external competition, the gross profit in the IT electronics industry will be increasingly compressed as technology progresses in leaps and bounds and new products are being constantly launched. The general positive outlook of metal component parts is drawing a wave of new competitors, creating a significant amount of pressure on the existing businesses. However, competition is inevitable and serves to maintain positive catalyst among this industry. In order to ensure our leading position, the company pays close attention to the markets and technological development and changes by collecting and analyzing the information on different materials and manufacturing process. The objective is to reduce the impact of changes in technology while continuing to enhance advanced technologies. In addition to investing in basic material science, the company also reinforces development in different material molding as well as processing and surface treatments, enhances core R&D techniques, and diversifies its products and lift them onto higher levels to secure and stabilize profits. Excellent production techniques and huge capacity will be utilized to provide premium customer services in order to strengthen long term relationships.

With respect to the legislative environment in Taiwan and overseas, countries around the world have been launching environmental protection laws regarding electronic products. In addition, the tier-1 brand customers set the high requirement on its suppliers' code and demand all of the vendors to comply strictly. The company has always been committed to environmentally friendly production processes and will undoubtedly meet the legislative requirements and keep up with the global trend. The company will continue to monitor, update, and comply with any new legislative implementation in order to protect the rights of the shareholders.

As the macro environment becomes more complex, the company will take into account the industry conditions and macroeconomics, and carefully evaluate and select the best strategies.

Business outlook and targets

Looking forward, the focus of development for Catcher will be on three segments: smartphones, tablets, and notebooks. Wearable devices have already grown to a new market, which will be a new area that metal casing vendors could tap into in the future.

For smartphone market in 2017, IDC indicated the shipment of smartphones was around 1.462 billion, down 0.8% y-y from 1.473 billion last year. IDC also estimates the smartphone will increase to 1.572 billion units in 2018, up 7.5% y-y, and up 3% to 1.627 billion units in 2019. We expect the competition between different brands and different operating systems to be fiercer in the future for smartphones, thus mid-to-high end models will be the main source of profitability for brand customers. High value-added and product differentiation will be the fundamental for tier 1 brands to expand market share. Moreover, due to the trend of being larger screen size, thinner, lighter and fashions for smartphones, metal casing has become one of the must-have specifications no matter what kind of design. The trend of metal casing design also leads to the "bigger gets bigger" in the industry. As a result, smartphones remain one of the main growth drivers for the Company.

Gartner indicated the shipment of Tablet PC in 2017 was around 157.5 million units, compared with 168.8 million in 2016, down by 6.7%. Gartner forecasts that tablet will grow/decrease 2.1%/0.7% to 160.9/159.7 million units in 2018/2019, indicating a stabilizing tablet PC market. Compared to notebook, tablet is more convenient and thus it requires higher strength and better outlook. Therefore, tablet will continue to be one of the important products for metal casing vendors.

Notebook shipments of 2017 were 160.4 million, compared to 162.1 million units in 2016, declining by 1.0% y-y. Gartner estimates that the NB will grow 3.1% yoy to 165.5 million units in 2018 and increases again by 3.3% to 171 million in 2019. Overall notebook market will stabilize and it is still one of important part for our sales revenue. Although it's mature, the slim and stylish design of products can increase the penetration rate of metal casing. We expect the NB business could be quite stable, due to the stable demand for commercial models and some consumer models will switch to high end metal casings.

Looking ahead into 2018, mobile devices, especially smartphones, will continue to grow, metal adoption will increase, and metal casing will penetrate into the new areas. All of which will drive the metal casing sector to grow. In addition, Catcher will see significant growth from continuing rising demand from the existing customers, more allocation and new products/new customers' add. Catcher will continue to develop special production processes, techniques, and materials in combination with the existing production techniques to keep strengthening the comprehensive manufacturing matrix, which will enable the company to remain a leading manufacturer in metal casing and inner components worldwide as a major supplier that can meet customers' requirements of execution, capacity, quality, yield rate, mass production capability, cost structure, customized and innovative designs. In terms of sales forecast, although differences in product specifications, sizes, diversification of materials and processing techniques render the company's forecast of metal component sales meaningless, the goal for Catcher is still committed to outperforming the average industry growth in the future.

Catcher will continue to uphold its philosophy of Innovative Technology, Customer Services, Honesty and Integrity, and Sustainable Development, and work toward the goal of becoming a world leader in light metals technology. The company will also remain committed to product innovation, business model optimization, production technology enhancement, and cost structure improvement in order to maintain the leading position. Hence, it does not matter how the business environment changes in the future, we have the ambition, confidence, and determination to achieve our goals and create maximum value for our customers, shareholders, and employees.

These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, and we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

The description of the key audit matters of the Group's consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2017 is as follows:

As stated in Notes 4(f), 5(b) and 10 of the accompanying consolidated financial statements, as of December 31, 2017, the Group's net inventory amounted to NT$9,292,285 thousand (where obsolescence losses of NT$1,992,101 thousand were deducted). Such inventory loss represents approximately 18% of the total inventory. The Group operates in a fast-changing industry whereby developments in product technology and market demand may result in slow moving or obsolete inventory. Because the evaluation of inventory impairment and obsolescence losses involves management's material estimations, we deemed such valuation to be a key audit matter.

Our main audit procedures performed in regard of this key audit matter include:

- Determining the appropriateness of the Group's methodology for the evaluation of its inventory impairment and obsolescence losses based on our understanding of the business and industry knowledge, coupled with our understanding of the nature and aging of its inventory.
- Obtaining the valuation report for the net realizable value of the inventory to assess the adequacy of the inventory valuation basis by sampling inventory and comparing the carrying amounts to the latest sales prices.
- Attending year-end inventory counts to inspect the condition of inventory to determine the appropriateness of the recognized inventory impairment and obsolescence losses.

Other Matter

We did not audit the financial statements of the associate, Sinher Technology Co., Ltd., accounted for using the equity method for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016. Those financial statements were audited by other auditors whose reports have been furnished to us, and our opinion, insofar as it relates to the amounts for these associates was based solely on the reports of the other auditors. The amount of the equity method investment in the abovementioned associate was NT$383,335 thousand and NT$380,788 thousand, or 0.18% and 0.20% of the Group's consolidated total assets, as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively. The Group's share of the comprehensive income recognized under the equity method was NT$35,600 thousand and NT$60,698 thousand, or 0.20% and 0.42% of the Group's consolidated comprehensive income, for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively.

We have also audited the parent company only financial statements of Catcher Technology Co., Ltd. as of and for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016 on which we have issued an unqualified opinion modified report.

Responsibilities of Management and Those Charged with Governance for the Consolidated Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and IFRS, IAS, IFRIC, and SIC endorsed and issued into effect by FSC of Taiwan, the ROC, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' Responsibilities for the Audit of the Consolidated Financial Statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the auditing standards generally accepted in the ROC, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.

5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient and appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision, and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements for the year ended December 31, 2017 and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

The engagement partners on the audit resulting in this independent auditors' report are Chi Chen Lee and Chun Chi Kung.
